Project 1. Fantasy Meal

There once was an adventurous girl named Keiko who went into a dark forest. The sky turned dark, drip drop it had begun to rain so without hesitation she ran and ran. She had come across a cave and quickly ran into the cave. Inside the cave she saw a beam of light as if there was an exit. She walked slowly to get a closer look. It was a pool of water that shined as bright as day. From the light of the pool she could see how small the cave was. With this light she felt more at ease. Curious as to why it shined so bright she took a look into the water. There she saw something she had never imagined, it was a fish made up of food. Shocked she backed away in disbelief she slowly crept back up to see it once again she had noticed the fish scales were made up of oranges, limes, and strawberries. She had noticed it was all the foods she has eaten recently and her favorite food was fish. Wanting to feel the water she reached her hand over into the water. As she dipped her fingers into the water she noticed the lights slowly fading. Keiko pulled her fingers quickly out of the water. The cave began to darken as she wondered what had happened. She waited patiently for the lights to come back always looking back into the water but nothing happened. Eventually she went back outside of the cave disappointed. Keiko walked out into the pouring rain back to her home never seeing her food reflection again.
